VOL. XXIII. MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, VT., MAY 11, 1927 No. 27

NINE WINS FROM LOWELL TEXTILE BY 13 TO 3 SCORE

Loses to Villanova, 6 to 4—Whittemore and Hasseltine Star.

The Blue took another defeat last Thursday, May 5, when Villanova gave them the count at 6 to4. Both teams played loosely, there being five errors for the victors and three for the losers. Although Middlebury was able to get only three successful swats compared to 12 by the opponents, they crossed the pan four times. The Panther played a much better game than the visitors, but their work with the stick was so much poorer that they were forced to cede the pastime to them. That there were only two strike outs by the Pennsylvanians and only one by Middlebury shows that it was a club swinging dual throughout.

In the first inning the home team planted its cleats on the last plate three times, after that they lost sight of it until the final inning, when Captain Hasseltine brought in a count. The slugging started as W. Hasseltine socked a pretty one to reach the initial sack; his brother sacrificed to advance him; Anderson took a poke at the horshide, pushing it through the second sacker's glove; Whittemore's hot grounder also succeeded in finding a hole inan infielder's glove; as the ball was being returned from the field the man at the second station dropped it, by this time the Blue reached home twice. Willis concluded the scoring by bringing in Whittemore on a squeeze play. It seemed as though the fumbling was blamed on the hurler, Kuzco was put on the mound to succeed Crane for Villanova.

The Quakers staged a comeback in the second by also chalking up three points. With two men on, Curtiss clouted a beauty into center field to reach the third canvas; Cummings followed with a two bagger, bringing Curtiss in for the third count. Hingston was put into the box in the third inning. Kuzco hit a looper for three bases bringing a man in, then Lolos socked one over third to bring Kuzco over the rubber. To make the score six, Flanigan whacked a two bagger in the fifth inning, later being brought in by one of his teammates on a swat to right field.

The bright spots of the game were the sensational catches made by Whittemore and Hasseltine. The Quakers, though not so brilliant in the field, should be commended for their ability to wield the club.

CLIP TWO RECORDS AT WILLIAMS MEET

Smith Wins the 100 in 9.9, Bagley Nips High Jump Mark.

Although Middlebury's thinly clads did not win the dual meet at Williams last Saturday, they clipped several of the college records. In breaking the previous mark of 10 flat for the 100, Smith trotted the fastest century in New England for that day by doing it in 9.9. He also equaled his record in the 220 yard dash made April 30 at R. P. I.; his previous mark was 22.1 on a straight way, while Saturday he did the same around a curve. Bagley although placing only second in the high jump, bettered the old mark of 5 ft. 7.5 inches to 5 ft. 7.75 inches.

The firsts in the track events were evenly divided, the Panther copping in the 100, 220, 880 and the 2 mile; while Williams took the honors in the 440, the high and low hurdles, and in the mile. The Blue's low score was due to its failure to get more seconds and thirds, and its weakness in the field events. The 440 was won with Burrows only a mite behind the winner. Donald in taking the half mile made a spectacular 120 yard finish, pulling himself from third to a safe lead. Whiting had easy pickings in the 2 mile, while Arnold was forced to take second in the mile in the closest race of the meet.

Brooks, the Panther hurdler, took a spill when crossing the second last hurdle in one of the races, breaking his jaw and bruising his body badly. He may be unable to compete for the remainder of the season.

Summary:

100-Yard Dash Won by Smith of Middlebury, Beals of Williams, second; Sterling of Williams, third. Time 9 9-10s.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Smith of Middlebury, Beals of Williams, second; Adams of Middlebury, third. Time, 22 1-10s.

440-Yard Dash—Won by KeKep of Williams, Burrows of Middlebury, second; Drewer of Williams, third. Time, 51 7-10s.

Half Mile—Won by Donald of Middlebury, J. Dougherty of Williams, second; Starr of Williams, third. Time, 2m 6s.

Mile Run—Won by Adams of Williams, Arnold of Middlebury, second; Reeves of Williams, third. Time 4m 40 4-5s.

Two Mile—Won by Whiting of Middlebury, Green of Williams second; Monroe of Williams, third. Time 10m 26 8-10s.

120-Yard Hurdles—Won by Zinn of Williams, Boynton of Williams, second; Brown of Williams, third. Time 15 3-5s.

220-Yard Hurdles—Won by Zinn of Williams, Schless of Williams, second; Nichols of Williams, third. Time 26 7-10s.

PERCY GRAINGER TO GIVE PIANO RECITAL HERE NEXT TUESDAY

World Renowned Artist Has Received Great Praise Everywhere.

Percy Grainger, hailed by critics as one of the foremost living exponents of the piano, will appear in a recital next Tuesday evening, at the Congregational Church, as the final presentation of the College Entertainment Series for the season.

Born in Melbourne, Australia, forty-five years ago, Grainger at the age of twelve had earned sufficient funds to enable him to go to Europe, accompanied by his beloved mother, for further study.

In 1901 Grainger moved to London and soon made his initial concerts as a finished artist in the great cities of Europe, South Africa, and New Zealand.

Grainger and his mother came to America in 1914, and after a recital in New York early in 1915, became as famous on this side as he had been in Europe. In June 1917, hearing that there was a dearth of trained musicians in the U. S. Army bands, he joined the army as a bandmaster and stayed in the service till early 1919. Grainger says that he learned more as a composer during his two years in the U. S. Army than at any other time of his life.

As a concert pianist Grainger has always been a pioneer, introducing work by unknown or little known writers and playing them until they became household words in many countries. Thus between 1901 and 1905 he introduced the piano works

TENNIS TEAM WINS 4 TO 2 FROM U. V. M.

Split the Singles 2 to 2 But Take Both of the Doubles.

Splitting the singles and taking both of the doubles Middlebury opened the tennis season Saturday with a 4-2 victory over Vermont. The Green and Gold furnished a good deal more opposition than was expected and it was not until the last match of the afternoon that the score was decided. The victory advances Middlebury one step towards the state championship which she held last year.

Captain Nye of Vermont scored a surprising upset in the first singles match when he won from Captain Wolfskehl in a three set match. The latter won the first set at love, only to have his opponent run through the remaining two with little opposition. Seymour playing No. 2 won easily in straight sets from Baldwin, and Hindes playing the best tennis of the afternoon ran through Shedd in a like manner.

The fourth singles between Young and Graves proved to be a long drawn out battle with the latter winning in three sets. It was the first intercollegiate match for either man and both show a good deal of promise.

With the score tied Seymour and Hindes playing brilliantly scored an easy victory in the first doubles over Nye and Baldwin putting the Blue in the lead. Henderson and Wolfskehl playing the deciding match of the afternoon managed to squeeze a three set victory out after losing the first.

The summary:

Nye V d Wolfskehl M 0-6, 6-4, 6-3, Seymour M d Baldwin V 6-4, 6-0, Hindes M d Shedd V 6-1, 6-2, Graves V d Young M 2-6, 6-4, 6-3. Seymour and Hindes M d Nye and Baldwin V 6-2, 6-2 Wolfskehl and Henderson M d Graves and Taylor V 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

MONSTER PROGRAM FOR JUNIOR WEEK WILL OPEN TOMORROW NOON

GEORGE HINMAN
Chairman Junior Week

Class Officers To Act As Hosts At First Student Tea.

GAME WITH VERMONT BIG OPENING EVENT

Seats Almost Sold Out For Production of "The Haunted House."

The twelve-thirty class bell tomorrow noon will sound the beginning of one of the most complete Junior Week programs ever announced by a Junior week committee. From two o'clock Thursday afternoon until twelve o'clock Saturday night there will not be a slow moment, if the weather and the fates favorably cooperate.

Junior week will be under way when, to the tune of the college band, the Catamount takes its stand against the Panther on Porter Field. There will be a moment of tense silence as the Waubanakees touch their new men, and then the game is on.

Immediately following this the class officers will be waiting for the student body and faculty at the gymnasium to welcome students and faculty alike to the Junior Tea. Dinner music will be furnished by Edwin E. Waite, '29 and Richard A. Fenderson, '30 at the piano and by James Thomson, '29, who has prepared several selections for the violin, accompanied by Prof. Harry G. Owen.

At eight o'clock activities shift to the Congregational church where the Glee Club gives its only home concert of the year. The type of concert that may be expected from them is best described in various newspaper comment. The Bloomfield Daily commented as follows: "The vocal music was far above the general average of college Glee Club work. . . .Major attention was given to first-class music. The Englewood News stated: "The club numbers rendered with excellent shading, showed expert leadership with sympathetic co-operation and understanding by the chorus." "Middlebury College has a club. . . . .that sings popular music well, and can also sing classical music and make people enjoy it. There were no poor numbers, and it was hard to choose a 'best'. Mr. Newcomb has a voice of rare beauty and power. He sings with fine feeling and was enthusiastically received." Wakefield Herald. "The championship is really as much worth while (perhaps more so) than any of the athletic championships"; Barre Times. A comment from WNAC critic embodied: "James Thomson aroused our interest and curiosity so that it would be eminently worthwhile to hear him as violin soloist in a program wholly his own."

At ten o'clock Friday morning the usual fraternity stunts program will be carried off at the Opera House. For several weeks secret plans for individual stunts have been going on, and there promises to be a most unique series of vaudeville, chorus, and dramatic productions.

The baseball game with Norwich, scheduled for two thirty in the afternoon, needs little comment. Norwich has a team and Middlebury also has a team, the combination of which ought to produce a tensely exciting game.

At eight o'clock the taxi parade starts from Pearsons and terminates in front of the new Middlebury Inn, which is just taking on its final regalia. Dining room, dance hall, and porch will be ready with appropriate decorations, the Brunonians will be ready with appropriate music, and the one hundred and twenty gentlemen will be ready with appropriate partners. And at two o'clock the 1928

SIMMONS ELECTED UNDERGRAD. PRES.

Leahy, Hunt, W. R. Wells Chosen to Hold Other Offices.

Carleton H. Simmons, '28 of Wellesley Hills, Mass., was elected president and Albert D. Leahy, '28 of Claremont, N. H., vice president of the Middlebury Undergraduate Association at the meeting of that body held last night. Henry E. Hunt, '29 of Newport was made treasurer and W. Raymond Wells, '30 of Brattleboro, secretary for the coming year.

Mr. Simmons is on the varsity football team having been a member of the squad last year and on his freshman football team. He is coach and captain-elect of Hockey of which he has been a member for the last two years. He won his letter in Baseball his sophomore year and is a member of the present team. He is on the Student Curriculum committee and is a member of the Athletic and Interfraternity councils.

The vice president, Mr. Leahy, is president of the junior class and of the Interfraternity Council and is manager of Football. He is a member of Wig and Pen and is in the Junior Play cast, on the varsity debating team and a member of the championship glee club. Mr. Leahy belongs to the Sage honorary society and to the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Mr. Hunt, the treasurer, is art editor of the Baboon and of the 1929 Kaleidoscope. He is a member of the Middlebury Outing Club, and is on the Sophomore Rules Committee. He is affiliated with the Sage Honorary society and with the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity. Mr. Wells, the new secretary is treasurer of the freshman class and is a member of Delta Tau and of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Balloting for senior members of the Student Council resulted in the election of Rollin A. Furbush of Salem, Mass., and Earle W. Hindes of St. Albans. The junior members of the Council for the coming year will be Arthur T. Brush of St. Albans and Folke Gruggel of Whitestone, N. Y. Morrison T. Hoffnagle was elected Sophomore member of the Council.

Nominations for senior and junior members of the Athletic Council were made and the following names will be voted on at the next meeting. Hinman, Sorenson, H. B. Whittemore, Blanchette, Hunt, Furbush, D. F. Howe, Osborn and F. L. Smith; the last two men having tied for eighth place.

Junior Week Recess from Thursday noon to Vespers. Cuts before or after count double.

THREE DAYS.

The tea dance tomorrow afternoon ushers in one of the fullest, livest and most thoroughly planned three days ever anticipated in Middlebury history. They are three days looked forward to for weeks before they arrive; for, one's own Junior week comes but once in a lifetime. It is, we might say, the signal for the last lap of the college marathon.

If the plans originated by the Junior week committee mature, another acme of social events has been reached here. Nothing has been omitted to present a constant series of entertainment varying from dances to Frosh-Soph tussles; and it only remains for the student body to make the most of what has been provided. Junior week is a test of the student body as well as of those who plan it. If six hundred and fifty students can cooperate in executing a program scarcely equaled before, they are to be complimented. It is not the easiest thing to do.

One of the greatest joys received from college is the memories of it retained afterwards. We seldom stop to realize that we are constantly molding memories that will stay with us always. Junior week is very full of possibilities for forming them.

Next Monday if you can go back to the Latin room or the Chemistry laboratory with a sense of satisfaction that you have had a perfect three days vacation, plus a desire to take up routine work with greater vigor, none other is to be complimented than yourself Just as much as you, individually, put yourself into Thursday, Friday and Saturday you will take out in pleasant memories and real satisfaction.

E. I. N. A.

Included in the masthead of every issue of the Campus is the phrase "Member of the Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association". Without doubt eighty percent of the student body is unaware of the phesence of this phrase, and consequently totally unaware of what the E. I. N. A. is and does.

The association is composed of twenty college publications including the Amherst Student, the Boston University News, the Brown Daily Herald, the Colgate Maroon, the Columbia Spectator, the Cornell Daily Sun, the Dartmouth, the Daily Princetonian, the Harvard Crimson, the Heights of Boston College, The McGill University Daily, the Penn State Collegian, the Pennsylvanian, the M. I. T. Tech, the Tech of Northeastern University, the Tomahawk of Holy Cross, the Wesleyan Argus, the Williams Record, and the Yale Daily News.

The chief object of the organization is the interchange of college news. For instance, each college, before athletic or scholastic contests, is responsible for sending news, cuts, or pictures to the other contesting member. This facilitates the securing of advance material, and permits the circulation of news that would otherwise be impossible.

Last week end the Editor and Business manager of the Campus attended the annual convention of the E. I. N. A. For two days the representatives of the above colleges discussed problems of editorial and business policy in general assembly and committee meetings. Naturally an enormous amount of constructive thought was gleaned from the convention.

In the meetings the veil of prejudice could be torn away from problems of editorial policy. The success or failure of the methods of various papers in dealing with similar situations was examined with a general benefit. From the discussions arose a better knowledge of the general character and administrations of other colleges and universities and the varying degrees of success with which each is met.

The representatives of the business boards had an opportunity to discuss ways of increasing business efficiency and enlarging subscription lists by comparing their methods and results. In general the convention brought about a better understanding between the colleges represented and tended to raise the level of collegiate journalism.

Rustic Garden Background For Phi Mu Formal Dance

Forty couples attended the Annual Formal Dance of Beta Lambda of Phi Mu in McCullough Gymnasium Saturday evening, May 7.

The hall was transformed into a rustic garden of hollyhocks and roses climbing on stone walls and white fences. A spring trickling from a mossy heap of rocks reflected light from stars suspended from the ceiling. Cedars and white pines formed the background. The Greek letters of the sorority, outlined in roses, topped a flight of stairs leading through a gate from the stage to the floor. Rustic benches, hammock, and swing were in keeping with the setting.

Patrons and patronesses of the dance were: Miss Eleanor S. Ross, Prof. and Mrs. Everett Skillings, Prof. and Mrs. Phelps N. Swett.

Intra-mural guests were: Mary Birdsall, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Madolyn Derrick, Pi Beta Phi; Martha Gordon, Delta Delta Delta; Ruth Howland, Sigma Kappa; Eva Menotti, Alpha Xi Delta, and Ellen Rowley, Neutrals.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bump and Miss Mary Bump of Brandon; Miss Ruth Piper '26, Miss Ella Fox, and Mr. Herr of Milford, N. H.; Miss Viola Palmer '26 of Walpole, N. H.; Miss Catherine Matthews '26 of Newport, N. H.; Miss Viola Wood '24, and Flagher of Champlain, N. Y.; Mr. Charles Crosby, Dartmouth '28, of Brattleboro and Mr. Winthrop Houghton of Durham, N. H.

QUESTIONAIRE.

You'd be surprised at the number of Sophomore women that pet, and still more surprised at the number of Senior women who admit that they do not smoke. And the man you suggested as most popular at Middiebury didn't get the majority vote after all. There are some surprising facts being compiled from the Campus Questionnaire. So much time was required to complete the compilation that the release of the facts cannot take place until next week.

Parker Prize Speakers Chosen.

On Monday at the tryouts held with Professors Kingsley, Harrington and Morse as judges the following men won places in the final contest, to be held in Mead Chapel, Tuesday, May 24th, Bergman, Hammersley, Haskins, Huntress, M. J. Page, Pennington, Pierce, Straus, Tartaro. Owing to the fact that three men tied for seventh place with a score of 81 2-3 points it was necessary to choose nine speakers instead of eight as planned.

DRAMA REVIEW

"CLAY"

By W. Storrs Lee, '28.

CAST

Virginia_____Adelma Hadley '28
Henri_____James Thomson '29
Kate_____Jane Carrick '28

"Clay," a one-act phantasy by W. Storrs Lee '28 was presented at the Playhouse last Thursday evening under the direction of the author and Dorothy Abel '28. The play is dreamy, atmospheric, seemingly symbolical, and for that sort of thing was decidedly successful. Its theme is half-whimsical, half-cynical in effect, dealing with human nature that sees dreams crumble like clay before its eyes and then molds more dreams that will crumble, too. The clay motif is cleverly carried out through the attention given to small detail: the costuming, for instance, with the clay-like grayness of the unfinished statue repeated in the grayness of Henri's attire; and also in the bits of clay that Tenri and Kate toss back and fourth and play with idly while they chat together. The setting was very good, with its share of grayness, with the realism of its skylight and its slanting roof, and its touch of color in Virginia's gown, which was pleasing altohugh most unreal for a model to wear. To comment further on the characteristics of the play, we have only to mention the clever use of a musical background, significant in its persistent jangling, and the equally clever dialogue which had a delightful quality all of its own.

The acting might have been more colorful and decisive, just as the voices of the actors might have been more distinct and more easily heard. Miss Hadley and Mr. Thomson were themselves throughout the play, but, fortunately, their individual personalities were very plausible in the roles assigned to them, so that the audience really enjoyed their performance. Miss Carrick contributed not only a few bright lines as the artist's maid but was also the source of the backstage ukelele music and is to be commended accordingly. "Clay" was an interesting bit of playwriting indeed and was presented quite commendably.

"THE LIVING DEAD."

"The Living Dead," by P. A. Xanthopoulo '28, was the second play presented Thursday evening. With this original drama, it was really the acting that saved the day. The faults of "The Living Dead" are triteness of theme and excess of emotion or sentimentality. As to theme, a soldier's loss of memory and its consequent pathos have been treated many times before and the war itself can be handled now only by someone skilled in avoiding triteness and someone with a new message to bring and a new story to unfold. The emotional element in "The Living Dead" has the same errors that "Up the Sandy" possessed. Restraint, stern, stocial restraint, is needed to put across the pathos one wishes to portray. Fireside conversations punctuated by a father's sighs and a mother's tears will not bring out the real feeling involved as much as two simple lines like those of Wordsworth's when he describes the heart-broken father going up to the unfinished sheepfold he and his son had started to build together years before:

". . .many and many a day he thither went
And never lifted up a single stone."

Let us hope that the laboratory experience that the Playhouse provides has taught a lesson in the treatment of one-act tragedies.

Mr. Wiley '28 and Miss Walker '27 must have done some effective discipline as directors, for a college production of "The Living Dead" might easily have gone from the sublime to the ridiculous long before the final, halting curtain. Everyone in the cast brought out the almost overflowing emotional significance of his lines and yet managed to maintain successful poise and restraint while doing so. Mr. Crane's interpretation of the soldier who had lost his memory was a vivid, realistic feature, the most strikof Debussy, Ravel, Cyril Scott, and Albeniz into Australia, Holland, Scandinavia and Great Britain. In 1924 he conducted the initial American performance of two of the largest and most important works of Frederick Delius, the great English composer.

Since he was a boy of 11, appearing at the huge "Exhibition Building" of his native city, Grainger has always had the power to draw large audiences. A "Grainger Concert" generally means a sold out house, whether he appears in the great metropolis of the world or in the smaller towns.

Always numerous, his public has grown to such proportions of late years, that it is becoming increasingly difficult to gratify all countries that wish to hear him. He has performed as often as 106 times in America alone, during one season. The universal appeal of Grainger's programs is doubtless one of the elements of his great success as an artist. His Middlebury program will be of his best. Tickets for this concert may be obtained at Frost's Pharmacy.

FIVE DEBATING PRIZES AWARDED

Babcock, Landon, Pattee, Wiley and Leahy are Winners

Scott A. Babcock '27 and Edward F. Landon '29 were announced winners of the Wetherell Debating prizes of $30 and $20 respectively by President Moody yesterday morning in Chapel. The Wetherell prizes are given for interest and proficiency in debating. Mr. Babcock has been undergraduate manager of debating during the past year and is president of Tau Kappa Alpha. He took part in the winning debate against Springfield College. Mr. Landon took part in three intercollegiate debates including the victory over Massachusetts Agricultural College. He is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha.

At the same time the Lawrence prizes given for proficiency in debating were awarded as follows: The first prize of $25 to Samuel W. Pattee, '29, who took part in five of the intercollegiate debates, including the three victories over M. A. C., Trinity and Springfield. Mr. Pattee is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha. Second prize of $15 to Gordon E. Wiley, '28 who was in three debates including the one with Trinity. Third prize of $10 to Albert D. Leahy '28 who was in four debates including the Trinity and Springfield ones.

The season just closed consisted of seven debates of which Middlebury won three. The teams this year were composed entirely of men who had never debated intercollegiately hitherto. Leahy, '28; Pattee, '29; Landon, '29, and M. J. Page, '30, will be the veterans left to begin the season next year.

ingly dramatic work in the play; but Mr. Pattee and Mr. Saulnier, Miss McDermott and Miss Burtis held their own and, all things considered, did remarkably well.

It is worth noting that the make-up this Thursday evening was a decided improvement over that in the former group of plays. Even the grief-stricken mother in the last play was made up convincingly. I. K. L.

Monster Program for Junior Week to Open Tomorrow

Junior Prom will be a dream of the past.

"Frosh caps will not be worn the rest of the year" will be the slogan of the Freshmen as they line up for the rope pull near the hydrant at the rear of the Old Chapel at ten o'clock Saturday morning. Frosh caps probably will be worn the rest of the year if the present Sophomore spirit indicates anything.

No predictions of the Hamilton track meet to take place at two o'clock are definite as yet, but there is a degree of optimism and little fear on the part of the track men and coach. With a team that has already broken three college records this year no little interest is manifested.

Filled to capacity at eight in the evening, the Playhouse will take on the aspect of "The Haunted House." Steady rehearsing in the past week has brought the Junior Play up to a finely polished state. And the class of 1928 will easily go on record as having given a banner production.

The interfraternity sing on the steps of Mead Chapel will officially bring the Junior week activities to a close at ten thirty, following the play.

The Junior Week programs have arrived and are on sale at 50 cents each. The class numerals, college seal, and the words "Middlebury Junior Week" have been very attractively embossed on a leather cover making the program one of the best ever distributed.

The Junior week committee is to be highly complimented on the program they have planned, and with the cooperation of the student body a new record in social activities will be made.

Baseball Nine Wins From Lowell Textile

Middlebury 13, Lowell Textile 3.

Middlebury's baseball nine broke its losing streak of three games when Captain Hasseltine's men decisively won over Lowell Textile 13-3 on Porter Field Saturday afternoon. Previous to this the Blue had lost to St. Lawrence, Villanova and St. Michael's by close scores.

Lowell broke into the scoring column in the second inning when Kenny was hit by a pitched ball, was advanced to second on Bizzi's sacrifice bunt, and scored on Willis' bad throw to third. The visitors collected another tally in the third when McKinnon dropped one over the left field fence after two were out and scored on Logan's single.

Middlebury tallied three times in the third on Palmer's single, two errors and Whittemore's long sacrifice fly to deep center. Two runs were added in the sixth. Sorenson flied out to McKay, Willis singled and stole second, went to third when McKay dropped a hot drive from March's bat, March going to second, Kelley scored Willis with an infield drive which was too late to catch "Bo" at the plate, March going to third and scored on Palmer's long sacrifice to center. In the lucky seventh eight Middlebury runners dented the plate. E. Hasseltine was passed, Anderson was out, McKinnon to Kenney, Hasseltine taking second and scored when Whittemore poled out a long double. Sorenson was passed for the third time Willis popped out to Coffin. "Johnny" Marchukaitis drove one over the left field fence scoring Whittemore and advanced Sorenson to third. Kelley singled scoring "Swede" and Marchukaitis, Kelley going to second on the throw home and scoring when Frederickson dropped Palmer's fly to left, "Migs" going to second. W. Hasseltine double, scoring Palmer and crossing the plate when Coffin let E. Hasseltine's hot smash get away from him, E. Hasseltine continuing on to second when the visitors attempted to catch Anderson at second. Whittemore ended the inning with an infield out.

In the ninth Coach Klevenow sent in his reserves, and the visitors took advantage of their inexperience to add another tally on a single and three errors.

Whittemore's pitching was a feature, allowing only two hits in eight innings, passing one, hit one batsman and struck out eight. Marchukaitis was outstanding with the stick, getting two doubles over the left field fence in five times at bat Anderson played a stellar game at third.

Turn on the sunshine

WHEN Greek or calculus gets you into a tight corner, tie a tin to trouble—a tidy red tin of Prince Albert! Tamp a load of this really friendly tobacco into the bowl of your jimmy-pipe and light up. Watch the sun crash through the clouds with every puff!

P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how fast you feed it, because the Prince Albert process gave Bite and Parch the air at the start. Cool as a Laplander's lap. Sweet as apple cider. Fragrant as spring blossoms. That's Prince Albert!

One pipe-load invites another. And . . . you can hit P. A. from morning till midnight and it won't hit back. Don't put off to tomorrow what you can smoke today. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. and turn on the sunshine . . . now!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!
